'I WILL MOVE OUT'

• Jenny Wilson in Station Road by Didcot's Cornerstone Arts Centre with the petition

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A DIDCOT woman has vowed to move out of Oxfordshire if plans to turn a pedestrianised town centre square and residential road into a bus route are approved.

The proposal to open up the dead end in Station Road and run buses in front of Cornerstone Arts Centre to Broadway is part of a £50million expansion of the Orchard Centre.

A planning application by developers Hammerson submitted amended designs to South Oxfordshire District Council (SODC) last week – to add to the full application from March.

The plans still earmark buses to travel on the same route but also attempts to appease businesses and residents with extra greenery to be planted.

Station Road resident Jenny Wilson, 35, handed in a petition of 1,200 signatures to SODC on Monday.

Ms Wilson said: "I will move out if the plan gets planning permission, not just out of Didcot, but out of Oxfordshire.

"I simply do not trust the council; they are ignoring the community by going on ahead with these plans."

She added: "We are fighting a losing battle here.

"Children come along this route every single day, walking to and from school. It's just going to be too dangerous for them."

Members of Hammerson's project team will be at Didcot's Orchard Centre on Saturday from 10am to 2pm outside Sainsbury's to answer questions on the proposals.

Hammerson's development manager Russell Beresford said: "We believe the project will deliver significant benefits to Didcot by rejuvenating the town centre.

"We are looking forward to making a start on these exciting plans once planning permissions has been granted, hopefully later this year."

The revamp would see 24 extra shops including a Marks and Spencer food, six restaurants, a gym, and 105 parking spaces built on the eastern side of the Orchard Centre – near Next where the current bus route is.

Station Road resident Paul Oglesby, 29, said: "I thought the plans were stupid from the beginning, by approving it, it's just going to annoy a lot of people.

"There must be another way."

Boy drowned while playing in Thames

A 13-YEAR-OLD boy who died in the River Thames at Donnington Bridge drowned after getting into difficulty while playing in the river with friends, an inquest heard yesterday.

Aown Dogar was rescued from the water and rushed to John Radcliffe Hospital in Headington after police were called to Donnington Bridge at around 7.10pm on June 25.

He was pronounced dead at 9.05pm.

Coroner Darren Salter confirmed the details at the opening of the inquest into Aown's death yesterday at Oxfordshire Coroner's Court in New Road.

The inquest is set to be concluded on October 22.

Mr Salter said Aown was not a strong swimmer and his friends called the emergency services after they he stopped moving.

He added they had been playing in an inflatable rubber dingy but stopped when it deflated and were playing catch in the river.

By Loughlan Campbell and Alexander Ballinger
news@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A tribute from Cheney School, which Aown attended, described the boy as 'a much loved student'.

The tribute read: "The Cheney School community is deeply saddened by the loss of Aown Dogar and our thoughts are with his family and friends at this difficult time.

"Aown was a much loved student within Cheney due to his great sense of humour and fun loving personality."

Aown was a keen sportsman as he played for the school cricket team, as well as a footballer for Headington-based Quarry Rovers FC."

The tribute continued: "He was a pleasure to teach as he really valued his education.

"He will be sorely missed by the whole school community and he will always be remembered with great fondness."

• Aown passed away at John Radcliffe Hospital on June 25.

On a Facebook page dedicated to his memory, Mark Lygo, Aown's manager at Quarry Rovers FC said: "RIP Aown... you were a pleasure to know, full of life and passion, wanting to learn and develop as a top striker."

Flowers and tributes were left at a memorial on Donnington Bridge where Aown died.

Man arrested after car theft and arson

A 20-YEAR-OLD Oxford man has been arrested in connection with two incidents after a car was stolen and crashed and a suspected arson attack was reported in Beckley on Sunday.

Thames Valley Police officers were called to a property in Woodperry Road at 8.45am where a woman reported that a black Audi 4x4 had been stolen.

The car is believed to have then crashed into a nearby fence, driving through it with wire and wood still attached before it was abandoned in Cutteslowe at around 9am.

Police then found a property in Woodperry Road that was found to have deliberately been set on fire and the fire service extinguished the blaze, with nobody found in the property at the time.

Police believe the fire and the theft are linked and the man was arrested in Oxford on Sunday night suspicion of burglary, arson with intent to endanger life, aggravated vehicle taking and dangerous driving.

The man is currently in custody.

Det Insp Mike Roddy who is leading the investigation, said: "I would appeal for anyone who may have witnessed these incidents and has not yet come forward to the police to contact us on 101 as a matter of urgency."

Churchyard rape

DEDDINGTON: Police want to speak to a man seen with a woman who was raped in the churchyard of St Peter and St Paul Church in Church Street, Deddington, last month.

The woman was found by a passer by at 00.20am on Sunday, June 21.

The man was seen with the victim in the vicinity of the church on Saturday evening into Sunday morning.

He is described as white, slim, about 6ft 1ins with blonde hair and was wearing a polo shirt.

Anyone with any information is asked to call police on the non-emergency number 101.

Mercury soars

OXON: Temperatures in Oxfordshire reached almost 33 degrees Celsius yesterday on the hottest day of the year so far.

The Met Office reported that temperatures at RAF Benson near Wallingford reached highs of 32.6 at around 4pm.

While RAF Brize Norton near Witney topped out at 32.7 as the highest in Oxfordshire.

The highest temperature recorded across the UK was 36.7 degrees at Heathrow - making it the hottest July temperature recorded in this country since records began over 100 years ago.

Town crier

OXON: The ex-town crier of Didcot, Oxford and Wallingford has written to Didcot Town Council about returning to his role, months after it was revealed he had lied about having a military past.

Anthony Church previously claimed he was a regimental sergeant mayor, but allegations from The Walter Mitty Hunters Club exposed him, causing him to step down.

Didcot Town Council decided in a finance and general purposes committee meeting on Monday that they are looking to advertise the position on a freelance basis via their online website before making a final decision on the role.

Redgrave is pumped for Henley Regatta

CELEBRATED rower Sir Steve Redgrave will hold a keen eye over the Royal Henley Regatta in his first year as it will be broadcast live for the time since 1967.

The five-time gold medal-winning rower is in his first year as chairman of the Regatta's committee of management.

He will preside over proceedings alongside his rowing partner, Sir Matthew Pinsent, as both rowers are stewards of the Regatta.

The event is now in its 176th year and will feature 526 crews from 18 countries across the day - 32 more than last year's event.

Sir Steve said: "I loved racing here. I loved the crowds and the gladiatorial style of racing.

"We certainly have some headline international racing to relish this year."

Oxfordshire is widely represented across the crews with teams from the City of Oxford Rowing Club, Abingdon School, Oxford Brookes University, Oxford University Women's Rowing Club, Henley Rowing Club and Wallingford Rowing Club amongst the teams competing.

£11m Milton Interchange project marks six months

• Concrete being laid for phase one of the bridge works at the A34 Milton Interchange last month

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

COUNTY leaders are 'very pleased' with the progress of the work on the £11m Milton Interchange scheme as construction meets the six-month mark.

The £11m scheme started on January 12 this year to create a 'hamburger' style roundabout layout.

The plan is to take traffic from Didcot travelling westbound on the A4130 through the roundabout's centre and then on to the northbound A34.

With the first phase of the bridge construction nearly complete, the second phase of the bridge work is set to start around July 20.

David Nimmo Smith, Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet member for environment, went on a guided tour of the site with deputy council leader Rodney Rose, councillor Richard Webber and Milton Park representatives on June 19.

Cllr Nimmo Smith said: "I am very pleased with the progress so far with the movement on the site - everything is running on target and we should be able to meet next year's target."

Whilst work has been going on, commuters have been subject to tailbacks up to the Marcham Interchange on a nearly daily basis.

Cllr Nimmo Smith vowed it is for long term gain.

He said: "I am aware the traffic has been bad at peak times in the morning, however it is manageable and it's all for the long term benefit.

"If people are really struggling with the traffic congestion then they should find another route or give themselves longer to get to work."

Where the bridge is being constructed beams have been installed and the wing walls constructed to support the bridge.

The next phase involves the construction of the raised edge of the new bridge parapet.

Surfacing work will then take place on the new bridge before a permanent safety barrier is installed along the A34.

Didcot Town Council's chair of the finance and general purposes committee, Steve Connel, said of the project's progress: "It is going extremely well, they are working incredibly hard on it to make a big difference for the people of Didcot and for all those who use the interchange and A34.

"It was something that needed to be done and every time you drive round it, you can see the progress that is being made.

"More and more is being done each day."

The A34 is also set to be closed overnight for phase two of the bridgework to begin.

It will start in mid-July and last for two to three nights.

New designs for revamp

• Contined from front page

Peter Jenkins, 62, who also lives in Station Road, added: "I sent in another objection once I heard about the amendments and that Hammerson weren't listening to us.

"I'm very disappointed with the council's decision-making process. By not listening to us, it's going to have a big effect on the town."

Thames Travel's managing director Phil Southall said, "The council put the onus on Hammerson to demonstrate that their proposals take account of public transport needs to prevent them objecting to the plans. We support the council in taking this stance."

Mr Southall also stated that Thames Travel, who will run the proposed bus service, have yet to receive contact from Hammerson on the amended plans.

SODC and Didcot town councillor Tony Harbour said: "I feel it's likely that the plans will go through, but I don't understand why we have to bring it through Station Road.

"I just cannot see how it's going to work."

A decision is due to be made at a meeting of SODC's planning committee on a date to be set.

The event, now in its sixth year, saw families and dedicated cyclists head round an entirely off-road course from Upton, across Chilton and Harwell before heading east through Catmore, up through Blewbury back to Upton.

The money raised will be divided up between Blewbury School, Upton Village Hall and several other charities.

Laser beam

HARWELL: A 2km bright green beam of light was shone into the night sky around Harwell on Monday.

The Science and Technology Facilities Council at Harwell Campus shone the light as they were testing their laser projection system.

The test came in the run-up to the open day for the campus next Saturday and the beam is likely to be projecting again over the coming weeks.

Tunisia victims flown back to Oxfordshire

AN RAF plane left Brize Norton yesterday morning to start the repatriation of British victims killed in the Tunisia massacre last week.

Eight bodies are to be flown back to RAF Brize Norton near Carterton in a C17 transport plane.

The names of those to be repatriated have been released by the Foreign Office as Adrian Evans, Charles Evans, Joel Richards, Carly Lovett, Stephen Mellor, John Stollery, and Denis and Elaine Thwaites.

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The plane landed from it's first journey at 3pm yesterday.

Liam Walker, chairman of Witney Conservative Future, said: "It's not nice having the repatriations in this area. It's just so sad, but it's very important. "The community always comes together."

All of those wounded in the terrorist attack have returned to the country, with one being treated at Oxford's John Radcliffe Hospital.

Eilidh Robbins, spokesperson for Oxford University NHS Trust, confirmed that the patient was admitted to John Radcliffe Hospital on Tuesday morning but added that it is not releasing any further details under patient confidentiality.

The ISIS-affiliated lone gunman, Tunisian student Seifeddine Rezgui, opened fire on tourists at a beach near the Imperial Marhaba Hotel on Friday, June 26.

So far 22 of the Britons killed have been positively identified, however a total of 30 are expected to be amongst the 38 people killed.

Third Heathrow runway could prove beneficial to county

A NEW runway at Heathrow is the best way to expand the UK's airport capacity, The Airports Commission has ruled.

The Airport Commission published its final report yesterday that concluded a new runway was needed at Heathrow to relieve the pressure on the two existing runways and would "offer the greatest strategic and economic benefits".

The commission was established in 2012 to find a solution for the shortage of flights at Heathrow and Gatwick Airport – two of the busiest airports in the world.

The chief executive of Oxfordshire Local Enterprise Partnership, Nigel Tipple, said: "Its extremely positive news.

"It's going to help build strong business in Oxfordshire.

"It should be a great opportunity to improve rail connections between Oxford and Heathrow and it should also open up 40 long haul destinations which is going to open up a range of connections for our businesses."

Construction of the third runway is estimated to cost £17.6bn and would require the demolition of 800 homes.

However, not all in Oxfordshire have seen this as a positive announcement.

Steve Dawes, spokesman for Oxfordshire Green party, said: "Last year emissions from civil aviation fell by seven and a half per cent. If we open a new runway at Heathrow we'll undo all the progress we've made in transport, building and energy.

"Meanwhile local airports are being underutilised. It's disturbing how many flights are being used for short distances."

Teacher in court

OXFORD: A primary school headteacher is due to appear at Oxford Crown Court on Friday after he was charged with sexual offences against two young girls.

Christopher Field, of Green Lane in Chieveley, Berkshire, is accused of three charges of assault on a girl under 13 by touching and inciting a girl under 13 to engage in sexual activity.

It is alleged to have occurred while Field was the headteacher at Woodcote Primary School in South Oxfordshire between 2010 and 2012.

Loneliest dog

BURFORD: A homeless Staffordshire bull terrier and collie cross has been labelled Oxfordshire's loneliest dog after he's waited more than 500 days to find a new home.

Kenny, eight, is being cared for at the Blue Cross rehoming centre in Burford and has seen nearly 3,000 dogs leave with new families following his arrival in February 2014 after his owners couldn't take him when they moved house.

Honey I shrunk the college (with Lego)

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• Prospective students got a miniature tour of the college yesterday and today

A PROFESSOR from Oxford University has completed a 30,000-piece Lego model of his college featuring an alien experiments lab and Batman as principal.

Dr Andrew Beaumont put the finishing touches to his 6ft model of Hertford College in time for the first of the university open days yesterday.

Dr Beaumont has been constructing the model in his spare time for the last six months to welcome prospective students to the college.

He said: "The model is a good way of showing that we don't take ourselves too seriously.

"Is this actually some sort of enormous, 30,000-brick metaphor for the whole Oxford experience; a visual representation of both our respect for tradition, and our desire to innovate and shape the future?

"Well, no, it's just a model. But everyone loves Lego."

"Each of our students, fellows and staff-members has their own part to play in preserving that same spirit of inclusivity and excellence, and as a member of our community you too will build upon our academic foundations in new and exciting ways."

But Mr Beaumont says the model is still a work in progress and he intends to add a lot more detail.

He added: "It's still quite a few rooms - not to mention several thousand bricks - short of finished, and frankly the Jackson Staircase needs a lot more work: I'm afraid I had to improvise it in about an hour in order to get it built before going off on my summer holiday.

"Please be advised that this is a work of fiction.

"We don't really own the Ark of the Covenant, we don't routinely experiment on aliens, and any rumours that there's a giant alligator called Alphonse living in the sewers are just that."

Hertford College, in Catte Street, dates back to 1282

Dr Matthew Hiscock, academic registrar at the college, said: "It's a great way to introduce students to the college. Dr Beaumont did a brilliant job."

Potential students are being welcomed to view the mini college during open days yesterday and today before taking the full tour of the actual buildings.

Child rapist gets 17 years in jail

AN OXFORD man was jailed for 17 years after being found guilty of raping children over a seven-year period.

A jury found Philip Spriggs guilty on Monday after a week-and-a-half trial in April at Oxford Crown Court.

The 51-year-old of Hillsale Piece, Littlemore, was convicted for 20 sex offences against children in Oxford between 2007 and 2014, 12 of which included rape and three of which were against a child under 13.

He denied all charges.

Detective Sergeant Tracey Shepherd, of the child abuse investigation unit, said: "The victims in this case have been very brave at speaking out against their abuser. They can now begin to rebuild their lives knowing they do not have to suffer further abuse."

Spriggs was arrested on October 23 last year and charged the next day.

He was also given seven years on licence, and put on the sex offenders register for life.

Oxfordshire's chief exec stays silent after resignation

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

• Joanna Simons

THE £186,000-a-year taxpayer-paid chief executive of Oxfordshire County Council has refused to give any interviews following the announcement that she is to step down.

Joanna Simons, who has been in the position for ten years, revealed on Friday she will resign from her post as part of cost-cutting measures.

But she will receive a one-off payment of £259,000 when she steps down in September.

The Guardian approached her office numerous times by phone and email and was rejected interview requests.

Leader of Oxfordshire County Council Ian Hudspeth said: "She feel that it's not appropriate as our statement says enough and that there is no need for her to talk about it."

A statement released on her behalf states Mrs Simons is stepping down for the council to carry out a review of senior management.

Cllr Hudspeth also stated Mrs Simons' resignation had nothing to do with Operation Bullfinch.

Mrs Simons resisted calls to resign after seven men were jailed in 2013 for child sexual abuse as part of police Operation Bullfinch.

A report in March criticised Oxfordshire County Council's failings.

Dia Chakravaty, the Tax Payers' Alliance political director, said: "Residents are right to question how a cash-strapped council can afford such a huge payout.

"Taxpayers will find this particularly hard to stomach given the appalling abuse scandal casting a shadow over the chief executive's time in post."

In February councillors voted to get rid of the chief executive post to save money.

However that decision was reversed in March when concerns were raised about the legality of axing the post.

Cllr Hudspeth revealed they acted 'hastily in making the decision'.

He added: "She has transformed the way the council is run and has been very good counsel to me over the years."

Bob Price, Oxford City Council leader, said: "It has been an unfortunate saga in the way the county council have managed her situation, though it's fair to say it's due to the cuts that they are having to make.

"Joanna has been a superb advocate for the council and has worked well for the local area."

A council review into senior management will take place over the summer.

Proposals for the new arrangements will be considered by full council and form part of the council's budget, to be agreed next February.

In the interim, Ms Simons' responsibilities will be shared amongst the management team - current chief legal officer, Peter Clark will become statutory head of paid service.

Award winner

OXFORD: Oxford City Council received a double award at the Investors in People Awards 2015 in London last Wednesday night.

The council was awarded gold employer of the year in the 250+ employees category and was named the overall winner by a panel of judges that featured previous winners and professionals.

Peter Sloman, the City Council Chief Executive, said: "I am absolutely thrilled with the awards and the recognition of the hard work that so many of us have put in over the years."

Exposure

OXFORD: A man exposed himself to two 14-year-old girls after asking them for directions in Oxford.

The man was driving a blue Vauxhall Zafira on Sunday at about 5.20pm in Five Mile Drive, Summertown.

He is described as white, aged between 30 and 40, with short blonde hair and was wearing a grey top.

New principal

WITNEY: The deputy principal of Abingdon and Witney College, Di Bachelor, will replace current principal Teresa Kelly.

Miss Kelly is retiring in December and the Board of Governors students, staff, managers and stakeholders have appointed Miss Batchelor to fill the post.

Consultation on £6m county transport cuts

OXFORDSHIRE County Council is asking for residents' advice on where to make £6.25million in cuts to their supported transport budget.

The plans, revealed in May to address a £280m black hole in the budget, threatens more than 100 bus services.

A consultation has been opened with residents.

The council have said: "Ongoing cuts in central government funding mean Oxfordshire County Council has to make savings.

"We have already made £204m in savings since 2010 and are continuing to work hard to hold down costs and find new ways of working as the money we get from the government is reduced, whilst demand for our services increases."

Proposals include three options: stopping bus subsidies altogether, reducing the funding to subsidised bus services or ending the direct funding of the Dial-a-Ride service – instead encouraging community transport groups to replace it.

Subsidised transport services are partially financed by the council because it is not commercially viable for operators to run them.

The council has identified £3.7m in savings by bringing together all the supported transport they fund, but that leaves £2.6m that needs to be found through cuts.

The council is in the process of making £290m in savings before 2018 and believe the government may require another £60,000 beyond that.

The consultation began on June 19 and will continue until September 14 with results published on October 30.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director James Miller feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps.

Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service Oxfordshire from their local depots and James is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give James a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Off-road battle truck UK first

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

PRIME Minister David Cameron has backed Carterton police's new cross-country crime fighter – a mini 4x4 which is a UK policing first.

Carterton Police Station unveiled its new gadget last Thursday to combat hare coursing, fuel theft, deer poaching and illegal raves.

Mr Cameron said: "I welcome this exciting launch which will see this vehicle used for the very first time by a British police force.

"In rural areas like my constituency, our forces face unique challenges and this vehicle will be a great asset to Thames Valley Police as they focus their attention on tackling rural crime."

The £17,000 four-wheel drive Kubota RTVX900 was out on patrol for the first time on Thursday.

It is the brainchild of PCSO Colin Davies, of Carterton Police Station.

He approached vehicle-manufacturing company Kubota – based near Thame – for a loan as he felt the force was struggling to investigate rural crime in normal police vehicles.

The 'Rough Terrain Vehicle' was donated to the force for one year.

Officer Colin Davies said: "I'm absolutely excited. We'll be using this vehicle every day for tackling rural crime.

• PCSO Colin Davies with Carterton's new 4x4

"I think this will help us tackle a crime within the first week - we've always wanted and needed a 4x4.

"I was investigating an arson yesterday that happened two miles away from the road. You just can't do that properly in a panda."

Panda is the term used to describe police vehicles, as they used to be black and white.

According to insurers National Farmers Union Mutual (NFU Mutual) rural crime costs communities £44.5million a year in this region.

The local police area commander for Cherwell and West Oxfordshire, Superintendent Kath Lowe, added: "We definitely need this vehicle because we live in the middle of this rural area.

"We'll be using it a lot to tackle crimes in hard to reach places."

Carterton Police Station also has a fully liveried police tractor.

£12.5m transport scheme launches

COUNCILLORS have called for a £12.5million project to improve transport in Headington to focus on access to Headington's hospitals.

Oxfordshire County Council's 'Access to Headington' scheme, announced on Monday, will attempt to improve traffic on the B4495 Headley Way from Cherwell Drive to Horspath Driveway and address Eastern Bypass.

The council is asking for residents' views on the proposals in a series of consultation events from tomorrow until Saturday.

Full details are not being unveiled until the consultation tomorrow, however the council confirmed the project would include junction improvements, new cycle lanes, pedestrian crossings and new bus lanes.

Oxford city councillor for Headington Hill and Northway, Roy Darke, said the scheme should be implemented to improve access to the John Radcliffe Hospital in Headley Way.

Cllr Darke said: "The situation in Headington is getting to the point of being unbearable.

"We only need to look at Headley Way where patients are always late for their appointments due to the traffic congestion to see that something needs to be done.

"What the council is trying to do is to deal with the big congestion problems but by bringing more roadwork's to Headington, it could be a short term problem but a long term solution."

County councillor for Churchill and Lye Valley, Liz Brighouse believes the scheme could help ease problems with patients getting to the Churchill Hospital, off Old Road.

Cllr Brighouse said: "There are enormous problems with patients getting access to Churchill Hospital and we need to make d sure that whatever is put in place is going to make a difference.

"The scheme is reiterating the idea of not bringing in more cars into Headington and that is exactly what we need.

"People need to be using the excellent bus services available to them or use the Thornhill Park and Ride to get in and out of Headington."

The council's cabinet member for environment David Nimmo Smith, said: "This project is great news for Headington.

"We are keen that local people come along to see the plans."

The consultation starts at St Anthony's of Padua in Headley Way tomorrow from 1pm until 8pm, continuing at New Marston Primary School in Copse Lane on Saturday from 10am until 4pm, atWood Farm School in Titup Hall Drive next Thursday from 1pm until 8pm and finishing at St Andrew's Primary School in London Road on Saturday from 10am until 4pm.

Liberty Baker memorial festival

• Hundreds packed The Leys on Saturday

• Luke and Ben from Twisted State of Mind

• Spectators at the mini music festival

• Lead singer Ben Comley

HUNDREDS of people celebrated the life of 14-year-old Liberty Baker at a memorial festival in Witney on Saturday.

Liberty was killed by a driver whose car mounted the pavement as she walked to school on June 30 last year – exactly one year ago on Tuesday.

To mark her life a group of her friends organised Lib-Fest, a memorial festival in The Leys which ran from 10am until 10pm.

Liberty's dad Paul Baker said: "It's been a great day. We're really overwhelmed by all the support, all the people here, all the donations and what everyone's done in the community for Liberty.

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"One of her favourite loves was music. The house was always full of music from the moment she got up in the morning to the minute she went to bed."

For this reason the centrepiece of the day was a mini music festival on a stage set up in the park with a line-up of bands and musicians from Midday until 9.30pm.

One of Liberty's favourite bands Twisted State of Mind performed a song they wrote in her memory called Forever.

The band's lead singer and Liberty's school friend, Ben Comley, 15, said: "We wanted to write a song to commemorate her, to show our appreciation for her. She was such a nice human, we didn't want it to be the end."

Liberty, a Henry Box School pupil, also loved sports – so a 5k run through Witney kicked off the festival at 10am from Church Green.

Former Mayor of Witney, Jeanette Baker, said: "She was a young lady that loved music and was well liked, and it happened so suddenly. It was such a shock to everyone. That's why it's important, it's in memory of a beautiful young lady."

Mr Baker was called to court just days before the festival for allegedly harassing the family of Liberty's killer.

He was due to appear at court on June 22, one week before the anniversary of Liberty's death.

But Thames Valley Police have since admitted he should never have been called to court.

He added: "It's been a difficult time since I got questioned. I was shocked. Back in April, days after [Liberty's killer] was sentenced I got summoned to court. It just brought it all back up again."

• Liberty Baker's parents Maureen and Paul

• The track 'Forever' was sold for charity

Clergy to answer God's call at Christ Church Cathedral

A FORMER Oxford teacher said she is answering a calling from God as she joins 25 new clergy being ordained across the Diocese of Oxford on Saturday.

They will become deacons during three special services in Oxford's Christ Church Cathedral at 10am, 2pm and 6pm.

Ex-Cheney School teacher Sheila Crowther will be ordained as a deacon for the Osney Benefice parish in Oxford.

The mum-of-three said: "It's a humbling role and I feel that God came to me with this opportunity and that I've answered his calling to offer myself to the church."

A deacon is regarded as an ambassador of the church who generally spends a year in training before becoming a priest.

Women were not allowed to become priests in the Church of England until it's parliament, the General Synod, passed the legislation by two votes.

The first women priests were ordained in 1994.

Mrs Crowther added: "I never felt that this opportunity would come and now It's really happening for me, I'm exciting because it's something I've been preparing for my whole life."

The future deacons trained under priests at their parish for 18 months learning theology and the history of their churches.

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

They will serve the Diocese of Oxford – which covers Oxfordshire, Berkshire and Buckinghamshire.

In total three deacons will be ordained at 2pm and cover Oxford parishes, while nine will cover Dorchester parishes and will be ordained at 6pm.

Another six will cover Berkshire and seven will cover Buckinghamshire.

Jennifer Morton, of Toot Baldon, 66, is set to be a deacon for Dorchester parish.

She said: "I am excited to show what I can offer to the church."

PhD student at VU University Amsterdam, Daniel Hames, will join the team at St Aldate's where he will care for Oxford and Oxford Brookes Students.

The 30-year-old from Cowley said: "University life can be tough and we often hear of students struggling with stress, eating disorders and so on.

"My job as deacon will be to get to know the students of our city and hope many of them will know and experience Jesus' love."

• Daniel Hames, 30

Oxford deacons: Sheila Crowther (Osney), Daniel Hames (St Aldate's), and Jarred Mercer (St Mary Magdalen).

Housing concerns highlighted

THE general election campaign was a chance to hear about a lot of issues that concerned you.

It won't surprise you to hear that the main concern I encountered was about housing development.

I was, therefore, extremely pleased to hear that the Vale of White Horse Local plan is due to go before the planning inspector in September.

Once it has been adopted the Vale can take proper control of housing development again and prevent the speculative applications currently coming forward.

It will mean we get more housing but it will at least be controlled.

Other problems that were reported to me, which are related to development, were the pressures on primary school places and on GP waiting times.

I intend to look into these very carefully.

The issues are complex and include demographics, constraints on school sites and encouraging young medics to take up General Practice.

I will campaign on behalf of my constituents to try to ensure everyone has access to the services they need, when they need them.

I have worked with my Parliamentary colleagues in the past, and will continue to do so in future on plans to improve the rail line between Oxford and Bristol which includes the reopening of the Wantage Road Station at Grove.

This would remove some of the pressure on Didcot Parkway Station and would provide a much needed alternative way for local residents to get to Oxford.

I will continue to lobby at the highest level for this.

Research centre gets £5m grant

CANCER Research UK's Oxford Centre has been given £5million to help fund its research into curing cancer.

The Old Road Campus Research Building in Headington will get £5m every two years since it gained 'Major Centre' status from the charity last Friday.

It means the centre is viewed as a 'vital research hub'.

The money will combine radiotherapy and surgery with clinical trials of new drugs to collect evidence to guide treatment.

Professor Gillies McKenna, centre director, said: "The new initiative will bring researchers and clinicians together in sustainable networks with longer term investment."

The Oxford Centre is a partnership between Cancer Research UK, Oxford University and the Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust.

Its priorities are to develop new immunotherapies and work with biologists and engineers to deliver new treatments for patients.

Dr Iain Foulkes, the charity's executive director for research funding, said: "With these centres the UK goes from strength to strength in supporting our research around the world."

Oxford dictionary gets a re-twerk

'TWERKING', 'E-cigarette', 'twitterati' and 'meh' are among 500 new words recognised as part of English language by the Oxford English Dictionary yesterday.

The dictionary's reshuffle also saw 900 revisions of existing words published.

Twerking's addition to the dictionary follows revelations from researchers who found it was first used in 1820.

It was then spelt twirk and was used to describe a twisting or jerking movement or twitch.

But it has made its way into the Oxford English Dictionary alongside the definition that to twerk is to: "Dance to popular music in a sexually provocative manner involving thrusting hip movements and a low, squatting stance."

Twerk's modern usage was made famous after becoming the signature dance move of pop singer Miley Cyrus.

Matthew Bladen, the senior assistant editor of the Oxford English Dictionary said: "We would be shirking our responsibility not to add words like twerking. Our role is to record what is happening now in language.

By Alex Ballinger
alex@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"There are some very interesting additions that haven't got much coverage.

"My particular favourite is the verb 'sledge'. It's a cricket term which refers to fielders insulting the opposing batter to put him off."

Many recent additions to the dictionary are inspired by developments in the technology world such as 'sexting' – using a mobile phone to send explicit photographs or messages.

'Twitterati' describes regular users of social media site Twitter, and 'photobombing' was included meaning to spoil a photograph by appearing in the cameras field of view.

A statement by OED said: "We require several independent examples of the word being used, and also evidence that the word has been in use for a reasonable amount of time. The exact timespan and number of examples may vary.

"We have a large range of words under constant review, and as items are assessed for inclusion in the dictionary, words which have not yet accumulated enough evidence are kept on file, so that we can refer back to them if further evidence comes to light."

• Miley Cyrus made twerking famous as her signature move

'Webisode' has also been added to the dictionary. It is believed to have first been used in 1996 to describe a short video presented online rather then being broadcast on television.

The dictionary boasts over 829,000 words and explains both the modern and historic uses of words.

New additions are made to the dictionary four times a year, with the next update set for September 2015.

THE WORLDS BIGGEST CLASSIC MOTOR RACING FESTIVAL

THIS summer's extra-special 25th anniversary Silverstone Classic (24-26 July) is going to be the most spectacular yet with a host of dazzling Silver Jubilee celebrations. In this amazing competition, we are giving away a pair of weekend tickets as a main prize and we have four Sunday pairs as runners up prizes.

The glittering annual extravaganza is already established as the World's Biggest Classic Motor Racing Festival but the sheer scale of this not-to-be-missed event is hard to grasp. The vast Silverstone estate is crammed with mouth-watering attractions, eye-catching displays, car clubs, shops, vintage funfairs, street car shoot-outs, aviation and so much more fabulous family entertainment.

At the heart of the best-ever mammoth three-day event is the outstanding on-track action with epic races bringing together some of the finest historic classes in Europe. The non-stop schedule includes more than 20 sensational showdowns – all featuring packed 50-car grids loaded with legendary GT, sports, saloon and F1 cars from past generations.

Closing date:
Friday, July 17, 2015

The sensational racing, though, is just part of the full story. A record number of 100+ motor clubs will be displaying in excess of 10,000 classic cars on the in-field area – many also providing sparkling track parades to mark their own motoring milestones.

Tickets (which must be purchased in advance) not only provide free access to all the race paddocks and displays but also free seating in trackside grandstands plus free admission to the Classic's renowned live music concerts.

In celebration of this year's Silver Jubilee, rock legends Status Quo are headlining on Saturday evening with chart-topper Paul Young topping Friday night's bill.

For more information and full ticket details visit the official www.silverstoneclassic.com website.

However, to enter our great competition to win 'Super Sunday' tickets to this summer's landmark festival, simply answer the question below:

Sudoku

The objective is to fill a 9×9 grid with digits so that each column, each row, and each of the nine 3×3 sub-grids that compose the grid (also called "boxes", "blocks", "regions", or "sub-squares") contains all of the digits from 1 to 9. The puzzle setter provides a partially completed grid, which for a well-posed puzzle has a unique solution.

The importance of vaccinating your pet

Sarah Packman BVSc CertSAM MRCVS, Larkmead Vets

VACCINATING your dog or cat will reduce the chance of them catching a number of serious and occasionally fatal infectious diseases. Larkmead recommends that your pet receives a routine yearly health check and booster to help protect against the most common and the most serious diseases.

Routine Dog Vaccinations

Your dog's yearly booster provides protection against Distemper virus, Infectious hepatitis (Adenovirus), Parvovirus, Para influenza virus, and Leptospirosis. We also recommend that you include Kennel Cough in their vaccination regime, as it is a disease which, although rarely life threatening, has unpleasant symptoms and is becoming increasingly prevalent outside a kennel environment.

Parvovirus is a common, potentially fatal condition seen in dogs – especially puppies and we have seen cases at Larkmead Vets in the past month. It is spread via direct and indirect contact with other dogs, causing bloody diarrhoea and vomiting.

Leptospirosis is spread via the urine of rats, dogs and other mammals. It is a very common disease in unvaccinated dogs, especially in South Oxfordshire. It causes acute kidney and liver disease which without swift treatment is rapidly fatal

Kennel cough (canine infectious bronchitis) is the most common disease we see in dogs that can be prevented by vaccination. Kennel cough is a very infectious disease and can affect any dog – not just those who have been in kennels. It is a debilitating condition and our dogs can become very unwell and cough for up to 6 weeks.

Routine Cat Vaccinations

Your cat's routine yearly vaccination provides protection against: Feline viral rhinotracheitis (Herpes virus), Calici virus, Feline Panleucopenia virus, and Feline Leukaemia virus.

Cat flu causes respiratory symptoms which in severe cases may be fatal. In cats that survive, a good proportion develop a chronic condition where they can suffer with painful ulcers in the nasal passages and mouth for the rest of their life. Feline Leukaemia virus is commonly seen in the stray cat population which predisposes a cat to develop cancers and is the 2nd most common cause of death in cats under 4 years old after car accidents.

Dogs need a holiday too

BEING a nation renowned for our love of animals, it isn't surprising that many dog owners feel uncomfortable at the thought of going away and leaving their best friend behind, especially if kennels are not for them.

Wagging Tails provide a home from home boarding service where dogs stay with one of their carefully selected carers for their very own holiday. Their carers are experienced dog owners who are at home during the day to give the dogs the same warmth and comfort they get at home, along with plenty of exercise and playtime, plus they will only look after one family's dogs at a time.

This service is particularly popular for rescue dogs that may have spent many months in kennels waiting for their new owners. To return to a similar environment for their holiday may cause them stress after they have settled with a loving family.

Due to the popularity of this service, Wagging Tails are interested to hear from dog lovers wishing to join their team of carers. If you think you could welcome a dog into your family or would like more information about their service, please visit www.waggingtailsuk.co.uk, or call Teresa on 07762 132329

Don't forget your pets this Summer...

WITH the Summer months now here, we have holidays to enjoy and spending quality time with our nearest and dearest. One member of the family needs your attention too, so please remember your fluffy or scaley friend whoever he or she is this summer. When getting out and about with our pets we expose them to all kinds of nasty bugs and viruses, so it's a good time to consider is it that time again, time to call the vet and book the annual inoculations? Maybe Fido has been suffering from anxiety lately and needs some new toys to play with, in which case your local pet supplies shops usually stock some intelligent toys to stimulate those with the lowest retention span. The Oxfordshire Guardian have been speaking to many local suppliers from Vets to more specialist animal stockists and pet grooming facilities and they all have lots to offer the smallest or tallest creature this Summer.

Preparations are now well in hand with details so far below.

Individual entry prices for the Saturday or Sunday are: Adult £10; Senior Citizen £8; Child £5; and Family £25. Please note that a family ticket admits up to two adults and three children and represents a significant discount on the individual prices.

Car Parking, which is free, will be in Church Farm fields with access from Reading Road (post code RG8 0QY). Access to the car park site will be well sign-posted within the village and approach roads. (Please do not try and park at Church Farm farmhouse itself).

We will have all the normal attractions you would expect to see at Woodcote Rally including veteran and vintage cars, motor bikes, tractors and military and commercial vehicles, and of course, steam engines big and small. Look out for the unique steam pop-corn maker and the Todd steam carriage as well as a horse drawn steam fire engine. There'll be working displays as well as all the events in the main ring.

We will also have our normal craft and trade tent areas where you can purchase anything from the finest hand-crafted articles and speciality foods to second-hand motor parts and general fashion and brick-a-brack items. In the country area we will have the potter, the children's farm and story teller as well as the other regulars including a willow weaver, a wood turner and a chain saw wood carver. We will also have the birds of prey display with flying demonstrations. New for this year we are looking forward to having two pairs of shire horses.

Bookings for the children's and general entertainment are well advanced and include: Inflatables; Quad Bikes; "The Westerners" with their static, historical Wild West display; Horse Rides; Dog Agility Show; archery plus lots more. On Saturday we have The Woodley Silver Band and the Fiesta Steel Band to entertain us in the afternoon and the Saturday night band is "Blues Wreckers". On Sunday we will have Cholsey Silver Band, Langtree Drum Club with "Rushcreeper" plus various other acoustic artists creating "Woodcote Unplugged"!

Of course, the Fun Fair will be open for the whole of the weekend for the entertainment of the younger generations amongst us.

Let's not forget that there will also be the "Woodcote Festival of Ale" arranged by the South Oxfordshire Branch of the Campaign for Real Ale (CAMRA) which is open for the whole of the weekend for those who like the odd drop of Real Ale, plus they will supply a good selection of wines too. There'll be plenty of food stands nearby in the entertainment area to go with the beer and wine.

The Pimm's Bar will be available again this year for those who fancy a real taste of summer.

Subject to weather conditions, of course, the Hot Air Balloons will be either able to take off or tether – let's hope for good conditions so that they take off although last year's tethering was still pretty spectacular.

Hopefully, with your help and attendance we can continue to boost the amounts of money that the Woodcote Charitable Association gives away to local charities and worthy good causes each year.

Blue at Cornbury

"WE'VE been around for so many years and I sometimes think, 'do people still want to see or hear Blue?'" – band member Antony Costa admitted.

But his concerns have been relayed ahead of Blue's visit to Oxfordshire's Cornbury Festival on Saturday, July 11.

The nostalgic blast from the past follows a roller coaster journey for the band, of Simon Webbe, Antony Costa, Duncan James and Lee Ryan.

Blue took the new Millennium by storm after their formation in 2001, with three number one singles and three number one albums.

And playing live has obviously still not lost its thrill.

Antony told the Guardian: "When the crowd see or hear us, it's a fantastic feeling.

"I love performing in the UK as it's our home crowd.

"When we tend to do stuff in the UK, I have to pinch myself as I still can't believe it."

But after the group went on a hiatus in 2005, all four members embarked on solo careers and various other projects before reuniting in 2009 to perform at the Silverstone Classic Festival.

Now with two new albums under their belt along with an appearance at Eurovision, Antony is hoping the future will be bright for the former boy band.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

And in their 14 years the band has had countless highlights.

But top of Anthony's list was a 1940s themed concert and party held on May 9 on Horse Guards Parade in London to commemorate the 70th anniversary of Victory in Europe Day marking the end of the Second World War.

"Performing at VE Day 70: A Party to Remember in May is probably one of my greatest highlights of my career," the 34-year told the Guardian.

"It was an amazing experience. 13 years ago we performed at the Queen's Jubilee and that itself was an incredible experience, but to celebrate 70 years of VE Day was...well...it was just an honour being asked.

"It was a fantastic evening that was well enjoyed by everyone."

Cornbury Festival runs from Friday, July 10, to Sunday, July 12, at the Great Tew Estate near Chipping Norton.

Cutting it with Razorlight

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

RAZORLIGHT'S fan base is still going strong despite a seven year album drought.

And they can judge if the band still has that Golden Touch at Cornbury Festival in Oxfordshire on Friday, July 10.

Razorlight's UK chart-topper 'America' hit the number one spot in October 2006 and parked in the memories of many in the hay days of those in their 20s and 30s.

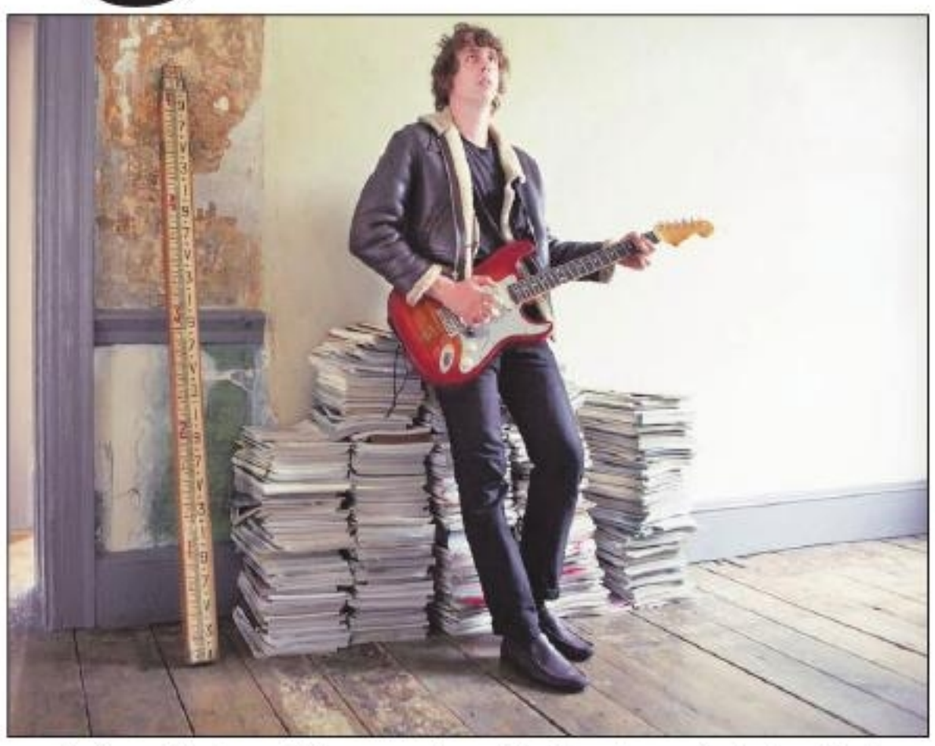
But lead singer Johnny Borrell let the Guardian in on a little secret: there is not one, not two, but three mistakes in the much-loved track.

"I was amazed by the support because it was originally a demo that we did," Johnny revealed.

"There is only one guitar part in it which is my guitar part and amazingly there are three mistakes in it.

"If there was a producer in the room he wouldn't have let me finish.

"I was producing the demo and I kept the mistakes in, so it goes to show that you don't need to iron out the errors to achieve a number one.



So I wasn't expecting 'America' to get to number one."

The band saw five of their tracks to peak in the UK Top 40 from their three albums.

So they have plenty to pick from when they help kick-start Cornbury Festival on the first of its three days.

And Johnny's new project, 'Johnny Borrell and Zazou' will also be making an appearance.

The frontman will commit his time between the groups this summer as he travels around the country performing at a string of festivals, including Buckinghamshire's Penn Festival and Sussex's Forgotten Field Festival.

"I was trying to get out of my record deal with Razorlight so I just disappeared to France and put a new band together.

"You'll hear all of the Zazou tracks at Cornbury," he said.

"When you perform, you can't be the same every time."

"Every group that I've ever had, I've always had that unscripted nature and it's very important for me to try and maintain a certain amount of improvisation in the music that we're playing."

And he hinted that a new album with Razorlight could be on the cards.

"Razorlight might do a comeback album," he said.

"I'm enjoying making music with my new group Zazou.

"If it feels right to make a Razorlight record, then I will."

Tickets for the festival cost between £15 to £315.

Rise and Fall of a Northern Star

ONE-WOMAN will command Oxford Playhouse's stage for 'The Rise and Fall of a Northern Star' on Tuesday, July 7.

The show performed by Stella Grundy is inspired by her own past and tells the story of rock and roll wannabe Tracy Star who is trying to make her mark in a male-dominated music scene of the late 1980s and early 1990s.

"This is a fast paced and irreverent look at the murkier side of the music business through the central character Tracy Star," Stella told the Guardian.

"It is based on my experiences with my band Intastella and the experiences of some of my peers.

"It also features some of the more outlandish stories which were written in the press, maybe truth or maybe myth."

Originally known as 'Laugh' when they were formed in 1985, Manchester based alternative rock group Intastella consisted of Ian Bendelow, Spencer Birtwistle, Martin Mittler and Martin Wright.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

However five years later, 'Laugh' were no more and Bendelow left the group.

This paved the way for Stella and fellow musician Anthony Green (also known as Lil' Anthony) to join the band, and influence the style to a more dance and rock sound.

The band enjoyed some chart success, with four of their singles peaking in the UK Top 75.

But despite working with musicians such as Shaun Ryder and releasing four albums in six years, the group disbanded in 1996.

The roller-coaster experiences motivated Stella to write the production, which has received much praise from critics.

"This all happened long enough ago now so it felt good to look back and write about this time," Stella said.

"I'd written several songs which dealt with my experiences of being in a band.

"It's best for me to write about stuff I know, have a connection with and have experienced and I knew this was a time, 25 years ago now, which was rich with stories of extreme highs and lows.

"As a songwriter I always incorporated these experiences into my lyrics.

"Writing 'The Rise and Fall...' script was an extension of what I was already doing with my song writing."

The production went through seven drafts before she arrived at the finished piece.

The show starts at 7.30pm.

Family favourite gets an upgrade

REVIEW: The new Ford Galaxy

By James Richings

FORD Galaxy is getting a tech upgrade to bring it into 2015.

It has seen three different generations since it was first launched 20 years ago, the latest of which was introduced in 2006.

But with new technology features, and a revamped interior, the American-made people carrier is being brought back up to date.

One key feature to the new design is that interior noise levels have been reduced through changing materials inside the roof and with acoustic glass.

The Ford Galaxy will also have heated a steering wheel and improved heating and air conditioning system.

With a refurbished interior, the car will include a sculpted centre console and a wrap-around dashboard that flows into the front doors.

Detailing and finishing options include aluminium, charcoal metallic, and high-gloss or silk black.

Interior space is also one to watch for buyers considering a new family car.

Ford of Europe's vice-president of marketing, Roelant de Waard, said: "Families across Europe have grown up with the Galaxy.

"Customers are reassured by its ability to carry seven in first-class comfort and safety, and to surprise with its unmatched versatility.

"The all-new Galaxy enhances those qualities with improved dynamics, fuel efficiency and refinement – as well as useful innovations."

With space for seven, Ford engineers were tasked with finding more room all round.

Second row passengers will have up to 10mm extra, while the third row will have up to 40mm more headroom.

Passengers can also store 1.5-litre drink bottles in door bins, and under-seat storage which can provide easy access for everything from laptop computers to books or snacks.

More storage is available in the instrument panel top and a media storage area for mobile phones and various other devices.

Parents will also have a standard child-watch mirror, positioned for a wide-angle view of passenger seats.

Chief programme engineer for Ford Galaxy, Andrew Kernahan, added: "Galaxy has always been a car designed around the needs of seven, and our all-new Galaxy takes this philosophy to even greater heights with every occupant benefiting from outstanding levels of comfort and refinement."

Prices start from £27,595.

Baldock's back to boost United

OXFORD United have signalled their intent ahead of the new season with the recapture of promising right-back George Baldock on a season-long loan.

Baldock, 22, returns to the Kassam Stadium from MK Dons, where he spent four months last season after arriving on loan in February, making 12 appearances.

The right back is highly thought of by his parent club, who won promotion to the Championship last season, and United's new signing is regarded as a coup by the management team.

Head coach Michael Appleton said: "We are really pleased to have George back. He fitted in superbly last season, he is a local lad and he is ambitious to be part of the successful side here.

"The fans took to him straight away and we think he is only gonna get better. Most importantly he is hungry and he wanted to come back, which I think speaks volumes for the way the club is heading."

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The Buckingham-born right back said: "I thoroughly enjoyed my time at Oxford and am more than happy to be back.

"We got on a decent run and the team finished really strongly. If you look at the players the club have signed, there is even more quality and depth to the squad.

Baldock was a hit with the U's fans at his time at the Kassam Stadium and scored a wondrous equaliser in the 1-1 draw with Morecambe in March earlier this year.

Baldock added: "The fans were great, the club is ambitious and I'm looking forward to joining up with everyone this week and getting a full pre-season under my belt."

Oxford secure late triumph over Coventry

OXFORD RL recovered from a recent slump to fight back from 12 points down and grab a late 24-20 victory against Coventry Bears on Saturday at Iffley Road Stadium.

The home side came out desperate to bring cheers to the 500-strong crowd.

Coventry lost stand-off Billy Sheen in the warm-up but looked to rip Oxford apart from the off, as the Bears' Stephen Coleman went over in the right corner with three minutes on the clock.

The Bears continued to apply pressure on the Blues and came close through James Geurtjens and Jamahl Hunte.

Hooker Dean Mignacca then managed to bring Oxford back into the game, spotting a gap in the Coventry defence to equalise the scores.

Liam Thompson went over for Coventry in a Oxford defensive mishap before half time.

The Bears came charging out after the break with Ben Parry touching down in the left hand corner.

Oxford's Josh Kittrick then scored a 10-minute hat-trick for the home side to turn the game Oxford's way as the Bear's Daniel Parker going over for the away side.

The game was tied with one minute to go and Andy Matthews found a gap in the Bear's defence to slide home for the winning try.

Saints all set for Swindon contest

OXFORD Saints are set for their 'most important game of the year so far' as they look to take on Swindon Storm at Abingdon RFC on Sunday.

The Saints were battered by the Storm in a 50-16 defeat in May which proved to be the wake up call Oxford needed to get their season back on track.

However, the Saints' play-off hopes are now in limbo following a 42-41 defeat to Bristol Apache last weekend, and know that they need to beat Swindon to maintain their second place in the Divison II Southern Football Conference West standings.

Saints' chairman Martin Fitzpatrick is under illusion about the stakes at cost heading into the tussle.

He said: "It's no exaggeration to say that this is the single most important game of the year so far."

Fitzpatrick added: "Our last game against Swindon was a rude awakening, yet it taught all of our guys some valuable lessons about underestimating our opponent.

"We are going to be in for a tough game on Sunday, the game against Bristol could have gone either way and I'm confident that we have talent and desire to take control of our season."

Saints entertain the Storm on Sunday with kick-off at 2.30pm.

Exiles bid Kassam goodbye ahead of London return

• London Welsh will leave the Kassam Stadium (Picture by Martin John)

LONDON Welsh have decided to leave the Kassam Stadium after three years of ground-sharing with Oxford United to return to south-west London.

The Exiles, who have been at the stadium in Grenoble Road for three seasons, announced on Friday that they will move to their former ground of Old Deer Park in Richmond for the new season.

In a statement the club announced it feels their return to the Championship is a suitable point to make a move back to London.

Chairman Bleddyn Phillips said: "We enjoyed a very exciting and challenging period in Oxford these past three years.

"We now look forward to the next period in the club's history when we can build on the experiences of the past three years and take that forward with us as we return to south-west London."

The chairman's statement also implied that the level of support given to the club in their time in Oxfordshire was underwhelming.

Phillips added: "We also need to recognise that perhaps the

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

degree of support, both in terms of ground attendance and commercial sponsorship, may not have been quite as extensive as we might have hoped or wished for."

However, the chairman also believed that the club has made a 'considerable contribution' to the community in Oxfordshire.

He said: "We believe we have made a considerable contribution to the Oxfordshire community, both in terms of local clubs and schools, and we feel privileged to have been able to make such contributions."

The Exiles first moved to Oxfordshire in 2012 having won the Championship play-off final against Cornish Pirates.

The Welsh were unable to maintain their Premiership status in the 2012-13 season but secured their return to the top flight the following season.

However, last season proved to be disastrous as the Welsh disastrously plummeted back to the Championship, scoring just a solitary single point.

London Welsh's time at the Kassam Stadium – Timeline

SEPTEMBER 2, 2012 – The Exiles play Leicester Tigers in their opening Premiership fixture at the Kassam Stadium. They lose 38-13.

SEPTEMBER 16, 2012 – The Exiles get their first home win at the Kassam, beating Exeter Chiefs 25-24.

NOVEMBER 4, 2012 – The Exiles stage a remarkable late comeback to defeat Bath 16-9 and boost their hopes of survival.

MAY 4, 2013 – London Welsh win their final home game of the season at the Kassam, defeating Worcester Warriors 33-22 as they are relegated to the Championship.

SEPTEMBER 28, 2013 – The Exiles humiliate Plymouth Albion 40-9 at the Kassam Stadium in the Championship Round 3.

APRIL 26, 2014 – London Welsh secure their biggest win at the Kassam with a 64-12 victory over Nottingham in the Championship Round 23.

MAY 28, 2014 – A two-legged final win over Bristol, with the first a 27-8 win at the Kassam Stadium, promotes the Exiles back to the premiership.

SEPTEMBER 7, 2014 – Welsh open the 2014-15 season at the Kassam in a crushing 52-0 loss against Exeter Chiefs.

SEPTEMBER 13, 2014 – The Exiles get their only point of the season in a try bonus point 53-26 loss to Bath.

MAY 16, 2015 – London Welsh play their final home game at the Kassam Stadium as they are beaten 17-68 by Saracens.

JUNE 26, 2015 – Welsh announce they are leaving the Kassam Stadium to return to Old Deer Park.

London Welsh's exit: Analysis

THE 125-year-old club will arguably return to Old Deer Park with their tail between their legs.

Their three-year tenure has been disjointed due to their humbling in the Premiership and their success in the Championship.

This yo-yo-like nature was never going to pay dividends for Oxford supporters, whose heated love for Oxford United was never in danger of wavering to the Dragons.

Welsh, try as they might, couldn't shake the stigma of being the 'other club' as they were labelled by United fans, whose resentment towards their ground-sharers, never looked like changing.

The 2014-15 season really put the nail in the Exiles' Kassam coffin. Beaten every game, dropping attendance figures, an increase in tension from United supporters as well as the scenario that they would have to return once more to the Championship, was never going to help them win Oxford's favour.

As the season closed and the Kassam Stadium began a pitch transformation to synthetic grass last month, United supporters seemed to have won the battle of the pitch and in the last few weeks, it seems, that they've also won the war.

Plato's weight risk pays off as he earns his 200th podium place

JASON Plato took a gamble as he decided to sacrifice the first race of the weekend at the Croft Circuit in the British Touring Car Championship to give him a better chance in the remaining two races.

The Oxford-born driver qualified just 12th on the grid for race one with 75kg of success ballast.

Plato ended up finishing last in 27th in the first race, however, the Team BMR driver went on to secure second place in race two before grabbing himself a fifth place finish in race three.

Plato is now 10 points adrift of championship leader Gordon Shedden as the championship heads into its summer break.

The veteran driver was thankful to his team for taking the risk with him as he tweeted: "Big thanks to Carlos and everyone at @TeamBMRBTCC for believing and more importantly embracing my risk plan today. Cheers chaps and chapesses."

The 47-year-old was also quick to point out that his podium finish in race two was also his 200th time celebrating on the championship podium.

The next race weekend is at the Snetterton Circuit in Norfolk on the weekend of August 9 and 10.

Oxford's disastrous season continues in Henley rout

OXFORD CC's dire season showed no signs of improving as the Division 1 leaders Henley put them to the sword in a eight-wicket win on Saturday at the Brakspear Ground.

Hitting only 78 runs, Oxford were limp and lifeless in the encounter as Henley made it eight wins out of eight.

Henley's Tahir Afridi dismissed Oxford openers Ryan Carters and Vishane Perera in just his first two overs.

Oxford's Nick Hands and skipper Ian Crosby were then eliminated by Tom Nugent and Afridi respectively.

Batsmen Shami Mendis and Andrew Clough attempted to get Oxford firing as they both reached double figures, however Nugent's lethal form took them both in quick succession.

Oxford stumbled to being all-out in the 25th over with Bjorn Mordt, Jake Doran and Gurveer Singh getting in on the wicket action.

Henley, heading into bat, put 14 runs on the board before the lunch interval.

After the break, they didn't make Oxford wait around for the defeat, knocking off the runs they required in just over 10 overs, with only Michael Roberts and David Barnes bowled out, due to the spin of Mendis.

Australia's under-19 captain Jake Doran, hit an unbeaten 28 from 10 balls to round off the win for Henley.

Henley's 82 total was secured in sterling fashion and the league leaders took home 25 points from the quick dispatching, whilst Oxford only drummed up two points for themselves.

Henley remain top of the Premier Division on 175 points, with Oxford still bottom on 43 points.

Sport Bites

Smith seventh

MOTOGP: Oxford's Bradley Smith raced to a solid seventh place finish at Assen, in the Netherlands, in the eighth round of the 2015 MotoGP World Championship.

The 24-year-old rider is now sixth in the Championship with 77 points, 10 behind fifth-placed Andrea Dovizioso.

Eddie struggles

GOLF: Abingdon golfer Eddie Pepperell's third round of 78 dented his chances of a high finish at the BMW International Open in Munich on Sunday.

The Frilford Heath Golf Club member hit two double-bogeys and two bogeys which plummeted him down the field.

His final round of 69 was not good enough and he finished two under par with a score of 286 to share 56th place and grab €5,900 in prize money from the weekend's play.

PROMOTION PUSH FOR DIDCOT TOWN

• Conor McDonagh in action for North Leigh.

DIDCOT Town's joint-manager Ian Concannon is riling his troops for a promotion push as their pre-season gets underway.

The Diddy are targeting promotion to the Southern League Premier Division this season and are bolstered by three new signings.

However, Concannon informed the Guardian yesterday that the club have been rebuffed in their pursuit of a long-time striker target as they seek to find more goalscorers to cover the absence of John Mills.

Mills, who scored 56 goals for Didcot last season, is set to leave the club this summer for one at a higher level, and Town have already secured former North Leigh striker, Conor McDonagh for the season.

Concannon told the Guardian: "We unfortunately couldn't bring in a long-term striker target alongside McDonagh but we are very happy with the team that we've assembled.

"Pre-season's going very well and we are targeting promotion this season, we've told the lads, they understand the score, and we will do everything to reach that goal."

By Loughlan Campbell
loughlan@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The Diddy kick-started pre-season off last Thursday and are set to entertain Oxford United in an enticing season opener next Saturday, which kicks off both sides' respective pre-season encounters.

Concannon praised the opposition ahead of the opener, stating: "They've got a great squad and they're bringing their first team down so it'll be a great fight.

"We think it will be a big chance to show where we are at as they have a strong group of young professional players that will want to win."

In regards to the departure of John Mills, Concannon, who still speaks to the striker regularly, said he's currently training with a handful of prospective clubs.

Concannon added: "He wants to play at a higher level but we keep telling him the door is always open in case he wants to return to Didcot.

The Guardian also spoke to new signing McDonagh, who said: "I'm very happy and can't wait for the season to start. Hopefully we'll get promotion and I'm looking to contribute with a lot of goals!"

Didcot play United at Loop Meadow next Saturday.
